HISTORICAL SKETCH

Marilyn Cross Hudson, 84, Parshall, died Thursday, Oct. 22, 2020 at a Bismarck hospital. Marilyn Old Dog was born on June 11, 1936 in Elbowoods where she attended school and graduated from Elbowoods High School in 1953. She continued her education at Haskell Institute in Lawrence, Kan.

On Aug. 14, 1959, she married Charles Kent Hudson Sr. in Parshall. She began her career with the government which spanned 33 years and included work with the U.S. Air Force in Oakland, Calif., Bureau of Indian Affairs in San Jose, Calif. as a social worker, and as an administrator with the Bureau of Indian Affairs for the Fort Berthold Agency. She retired from federal service in 1992.

After retirement, Marilyn remained involved and was the administrator for the Three Affiliated Tribes Museum in New Town. In 2009, she was recognized by the North Dakota State Historical Society as a Heritage Profile Honor Awardee. This honor recognizes individuals who have made a lasting or significant contribution in preserving, interpreting, researching, publishing, promoting, or otherwise extending the knowledge and understanding of the history of North Dakota, and have demonstrated long-term dedication and personal commitment in pursuit of these goals.

Her knowledge was vast and was readily shared in a variety of capacities for state and local organizations including: Bush Foundation's North Dakota Advisory Committee; Plains Indian Museum Advisory Board for Buffalo Bill Center of the West Museum; Knife River Indian Heritage Foundation Board of Directors; North Dakota Cowboy Hall of Fame Board of Trustees; North Dakota State Historical Records Advisory Board; State Representative for North Dakota AARP; and New Town Good Samaritan Nursing Home Board of Directors.

Her service and commitment to educating was great, but she was known by her family as a kind and humble person. She was a loving spouse, caring mother, and the best grandmother. She cherished time spent with her family. Her gentle spirit is at rest and she will be greatly missed.

Marilyn is survived by her husband, Charles Kent Hudson Sr.; children, Charles Kent Hudson Jr. and Sonya Joy Rensch; grandchildren, Charles Kent Hudson, III, Cray John Hudson, Lee Rensch, Stone Martin Hudson, Noel Joy Rensch, and Sierra Rensch; great-grandchildren, Marilyn and Lincoln Rensch, Chapmyn and Ares Charles Hudson; and siblings, Milton Cross, Alfred Cross, Carol Juneau, Dorothy Atkinson, Raymond Cross, and Michael Cross.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Martin and Dorothy (Bartell) Cross; granddaughter, Cassi Dee Rensch; and siblings, Martin Cross and Phyllis Old Dog Cross.

The family will celebrate Marilyn's life privately, in respect of CDC, North Dakota, and Mandan Hidatsa Arikara Nation COVID-19 guidelines. A public memorial is tentatively planned for June 2021.

In honor of Marilyn, go forward and share a smile, kind words, and good deeds.

Martin (Old Dog) Cross 1906-1964 was born on the Fort Berthold Reservation on May 8, 1906, to Chief Old Dog and his wife Many Dances. He was one of six children. He was educated at Wahpeton and Flandreau Indian schools. There he learned a good command of the English language and the ability to express his ideas well. As a young man he enjoyed the care free life of a cowboy. He traveled the local rodeo circuit at Minot, Beulah, Yucca and Strawberry Lake with his friend and Flandreau classmate Howard Wanna, Sisseton Sioux. However, he then met a young Norwegian girl named Dorothy Bartell, daughter of a homesteader, and they married in 1928. This put a quick end to his happy-go-lucky cowboy lifestyle. He and his bride settled down to farm and ranch and raise a family. The great Depression and the Dust Bowl were creeping across the land with the hardships of WWII close behind. Martin and Dorothy continued to live on the Old Dog allotment near the Missouri River raising cattle, crops and children, 10 to exact. In 1942, at age 36, Martin enlisted in the US Army-Air Corps. He changed his name from "Old Dog" to "Cross" at that time. He served for 6 months before he was honorably discharged because he was needed at home to care for his family and livestock. He remained very patriotic for the rest of his life. He was an active member of the Joseph Young Hawk American Legion Post and served as both Commander and Adjutant.

In 1944, Martin was elected as Chairman of the Tribal Business Council. For the next 20 years until the time of his death in 1964, he served 4 terms as Chairman and 2 terms as councilman. When he was not actively serving on the council, he was frequently called upon to represent the people and speak on their behalf in matters concerning their welfare and land. He made several trips to Washington DC, his credentials a petition signed by a majority of the tribal members authorizing him to present their interests in the Garrison Dam negotiations.

Martin Cross served his tribe in the time of their greatest need, the time of the building of the Garrison Dam. He was elected as Chairman in 1944, the year the Flood Control Act was passed by Congress. The next 12 years would be a time of resistance and negotiations and eventually the massive relocation and displacement of over 90% of the people from their beloved homeland. There are many books, articles and archives which chronicle this traumatic time in the history of the Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara people. Historians today characterize this displacement of people from their ancestral land by the Garrison Dam as the creator of Inter-generational historical trauma which permeates some of the thinking and behavior of today's tribal society.

As the Indian people of Fort Berthold struggled to adjust economically and socially to a post-Garrison Dam life, they were besieged by other Federal Indian policies which threatened to further impact their already disrupted lives. Foremost among these were the termination of Federal supervision over Indian tribes, the enactment of P.L. 280 transferring Federal authority to the States, the closing of the Indian Claims Commission and the complex questions of Federal vs State vs Tribal jurisdiction. The relocated sites of the Indian Agency and tribal office and many of the peoples' home were no longer on the reservation. (Note: This situation would last until 1972 when Federal Court ruled the exterior boundaries of the reservation included the City of New Town, etc.)

Mr. Cross provided leadership during those turbulent years. He served on numerous other organizations as well including the National Congress of American Indians, the Joseph Young Hawk Post, the Fort Berthold Livestock Association, The Fort Berthold Inter-Agency Committee, the Governors' Interstate Indian Council, the Inter-Tribal Council of North Dakota, the National Inter-Tribal Institute and the Fort Berthold Inter-Agency Committee.

Mr. Cross was a strong advocate of education supporting schools and educators. He served as President of the Elbowoods PTA and spoke often to school groups. One of his last official duties as a tribal councilman was in support of students and their education. In February 1964, he along with the other two members of the Tribal Education Committee embarked on a visit to Fort Berthold students at the Indian schools in Pierre and Flandreau South Dakota and Wahpeton in North Dakota. On February 12, while at Wahpeton, he wrote a letter to his daughter. "We are going home tomorrow afternoon. By that time I will be dragging my feet. I have been tired so bad. I wished I had stayed home but this chance to see my old stomping grounds was too tempting for me to refuse." Mr. Cross died of a heart attack at his ranch less than 2 months later on April 7, 1964. He was buried at the Scout Cemetery with military honors.

Mr. Cross represents that generation of Indian leaders who answered the call to serve their people when they were needed and they did so without hesitation. They had no money. They did not expect or receive any payment for their services. Their land, its resources and their livestock sustained them and their families. They knew their treaties and their Constitution and their relationship with their land and their government. These leaders were the nexus between the traditional chiefs of the pas and today's 21st century leaders. Mr. Cross drafted all the Resolutions and official business of the Council in the years he served. He often traveled to the council meeting in Elbowoods on horseback carrying these documents in his briefcase. Today's leaders need to appreciate that the paths they walk on today were created a long time ago by leaders such as Martin Cross and others of his time. __Source: Obituaries, Bismarck Tribune.
